Brand New Book  Print on Demand  Dad glared at me and muttered under his breath, I think it s great you two go someplace together. But if you re going to spend money, go someplace I won t take her, like Europe. Maybe next time. He shook his head and yelled at the defensive linebacker on TV. I m worried. We ll call you every day. How does that sound? I m worried about New York. No telling what trouble you two will get into there. I do not get into trouble, I protested. Then, as an afterthought, Not anymore. He grumbled and cracked open another peanut. This is a bad idea. I want to do something special for my birthday, Dad. Go somewhere I ve never been. Branson, Missouri, has some great concerts. I ll go with you to Branson. I don t want to travel some tourist trap, Dad, I pleaded. I want to do something memorable . . . fun . . . interesting. Dollywood s interesting. Dad, why don t you come with us? He...
