Excerpt from The Farm-Poultry, Vol. 25: A Monthly Magazine Devoted to Poultry Culture and Allied Interests; March 1914 The decay of the intensive type of poultry farming here did not mean a diminution of interest in poultry culture or in production. It followed a greater awakening of interest in poultry among farmers in this section, and a consequently inevitable shifting of the work of production. It is almost a universal rule that the success of special poultry farming stimulates the production of poultry on the general farm, and that in time this competition makes the special farms that are affected by it unprofitable.
