Many people today are looking for a more environmentally friendly approach to things such as dealing with the pesky bugs in our daily lives such as mosquitoes, spiders and ants. Deciding to read this book on how to make your own homemade bug repellants is certainly heading in the right direction. Within the pages of this book I offer you 30 DIY bug repellants that are natural and most importantly environmentally friendly. They are also very easy and simple recipes for you to make that will result in keeping those pesky bugs at bay without causing any harm to other living things such as yourself! When we buy bug products most of us have no idea what they are actually made from. At least when you make your own homemade bug repellent you are going to feel safe and comforted in knowing exactly what is in your bug repellent. You are certainly going to feel much better when spraying your homemade bug spray because you are aware of exactly what ingredients it contains-that are not destructive towards the environment. A great way to add to you becoming more environmentally friendly is choosing to make your own safe bug repellants. You are going to feel so much better using your homemade repellants compared to using those that are store bought and filled with toxins and chemicals. This is a great step in the right direction to helping to preserve and protect the natural environment by fighting to keep reducing the chemicals that are introduced into it by manmade ways such as store bought bug repellants.
