

We Do Things Differently: The Outsiders Rebooting Our World

By Mark Stevenson

The Overlook Press. Hardcover. Condition: New. 304 pages. A man with no medical training founded a biotech company to research ALS after his brother was diagnosed with the disease this is an example of how we do things differently. Our systems are failing. Old models for education, healthcare and government, food production, energy supply are creaking under the weight of modern challenges. As the world's population heads towards 10 billion, it's clear we need new approaches. In We Do Things Differently, historian and futurologist Mark Stevenson sets out to find them, across four continents. From Brazilian favelas to high tech Boston, from rural India to a shed inventor in England's home counties, Mark Stevenson travels the world to find the advance guard reimagining our future. At each stop, he meets innovators who have already succeeded in challenging the status quo, pioneering new ways to make our world more sustainable, equitable and humane. Populated by extraordinary characters including Detroit citizens who created new jobs and promoted healthy eating by building greenhouses, an Austrian mayor who built a new biomass plant using the by-product of a local flooring company, and an Indian doctor who crowdsourced his research and published his findings online We Do Things Differently paints a...
