Forgotten Books, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Experiments and Observations on the Means of Counteracting the Deleterious Effects of Opium, and on the Method of Cure of the Disease Resulting Therefrom I procured two pups of the same litter, and about two months old; to each, six grains of Opium was given: to one I gave the Elixir of Vitriol in doses of twenty drops, three or four times an hour, during the first two hours.ale The other was left as a standard. The natural standard of the pulse in both was about one hundred and fifty in a minute; in 12 minutes they both puked. In two hours the pulse in the one taking the acid was at one hundred and sixty eight; in the other at two hundred in a minute - they had slavered a good deal; now and then fell asleep, but soon awoke on my approaching them. In four hours the pulse in both at one hundred and sixty-eight, -the one which took the acid, was least affected from the beginning of the experi ment, had not been so drowsy, and appeared more spright ly, and had now entirely gotten over it. The other was still dull, slept soundly, and when awoke appeared much affected. I did not attend to them any longer.
