Excerpt from The Present State of the Daniel Controversy Now just here lies the fallacy of all those who admit that God has revealed His will to man and yet deny the genuineness of the book of Daniel on the ground of the character of the predictive prophecies contained in it. God, or the critics of God, which? For is it not evident that a man who asserts that the ultimate triumph of the kingdom of God is here made known, but that God could not have fore seen or foretold the course of events in the time of the Seleucid kings is gagging God, reducing Him to the limitations of humanity, and fixing for Him a periphery of knowledge and a radius of revelation beyond which He cannot, or must not, pass?
