Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from A Letter Addressed to the Honest Reformers of Scotland: With Remarks on the Poor Rates, Corn Law, Religious Establishment, Right of Property, Equality of Ranks, and Revolution The way in which Reform has been recommended, and the violence by which it has been argued in the streets, has decided me to disclaim it. Until the people, and capital by which they subsist, are united in purification of Parliament, no man, who has not made up his mind to revolution, can meddle with it. Astonishing as it may appear, that any man should seek for power, by brutalizing those who are stupid or ignorant, it is nevertheless too true. Every atrocious feeling is carefully raised, by the phosphoric light, in which every act of Administration, every movement of the proprietor is shewn. Parliament may be too aristocratic, Ministers too lavish, Opposition too factious; but the honesty, talent, and patriotism of all of them, is obviously superior to the class of the nation which abuses them. At all events, the property, and the monied interest, and the religious body of the state, and seven-eighths of the people, will support them in taxes to any extent, against the deluded mob. To keep up popular feeling, to prevent despotism, and to expose revolution, is the motive and apology for this hasty compilation. I lately published my opinion as to the causes of the present distress, in the following Letter to the Editor of a Newspaper: - Sir, In your columns, which I have found ever advocating the cause of that class, whose means of existence is now often precarious, and consequently, doubly liable to be affected by the mistakes of an administration, too...
