Who Do We Think We are?: What it Takes to be Human

By Herb Gruning

Blue Dolphin Publishing, United States, 2016. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Do we ever wonder who we are? Or do we simply assume what should be taken as obvious? Doesn't being human make us authorities on what it means to be human? It turns out that answers to such questions are not so certain, for difficulties abound. Tough ones. This volume takes on the stubborn problems from biblical, theological, philosophical and scientific angles and uncovers that the issues are perennial and advancements modest. If we are going to make any headway, then we need to ask these questions afresh with each passing generation. That is, if we do not hamper progress ourselves or first run out of generations. I know of very few individuals who have the requisite expertise in evolutionary theory, metaphysics and the philosophy of science, and the history of religious thought and particularly biblical scholarship, to bring all of these viewpoints together and even begin considering the implications for theories of human nature in that interdisciplinary context. To accomplish this in a way that makes the reader feel educated rather than intimidated is...
