Excerpt from Laws Applicable to the United States Department of Agriculture: Printed for the Use of Officers and Employees of the Department The purpose of this compilation is to bring together in convenient form. For reference by the officers and employees of the Department of Agriculture, the provisions of law Which affect the Department. This compilation collects and presents all sections or portions thereof of the United States Revised Statutes and subsequent enactments from the Statutes at Large, general or permanent in their nature, and not obsolete, superseded. Or repealed, including the enactments of the Fiffy-ninth Congress. I. E all provisions relating to the De partment of Agriculture in force on July 1. 1907. Provisions of law relating exclusively to the civil service and to accounting have not been included. Provisions and riders from the appropriation acts for the Department of Agriculture have been included. Many of these have acquired more or less of permanency by repetition and observ ance from vear to vear. And it has been deemed appropriate to give as notes on such provisions full citations to the Statutes at Large in which they or similar provisions have appeared from year to vear. By which their history and evolution may lie traced. The provisions of the appropriation act for the Department of Agriculture for the current fiscal vear. Act of March 4. 1907 (excepting those designating officers. Clerks. And employees. And their salaries. Which are merely enumerative and are changed from vear to year). Have been included under the various bureaus. Divisions. And offices to which they respec tively relate. The wording. Capitalization. Punctuation. Etc of the printed stat utes have been carefully followed. To economize space. Enacting clauses...
