Forgotten Books. Paperback. Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. 280 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.6in. Excerpt from Electro-Thermal Methods of Iron and Steel Production. The Author is not connected by business relations with any of the patentees or companies exploiting the furnaces described; this fact should give added value to the handbook, and to the judgments expressed upon the various furnaces and processes dealt with. The appendix contains a large amount of useful information which it was not possible to incorporate in the body of the handbook. This includes (1) a list (based on official information) of all the electric furnaces for Iron and Steel Production in operation or under construction in 1912; (2) The titles and dates of all the more important British Patents relating to the subject and granted during the period 1901 - 1912 (3) Reprints in full of the text of British Patents which are of special interest, and (4) Abstracts of and notes from recent valuable papers on Electric refining. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com. This book is a reproduction of an important historical work. Forgotten Books uses state-of-the-art technology to digitally reconstruct the work, preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy.
