

DOWNLOAD

Bushnell, Illinois, Centennial, 1854-1954 (Classic Reprint) (Paperback)

By Bushnell Centennial Association

Forgotten Books, United States, 2016. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Bushnell, Illinois, Centennial, 1854-1954 Bushnell, a town of not quite is situated at the junction of the Burlington, T. P. W. And St. Louis branch of the Burlington. Bushnell was laid out in 1854 before the completion of the Northern Cross railroad. John D. Hall of Macomb, sold a two-third interest in northeast quarter of section 33 to D. P. Wells and Iverson L. Twyman, also of Macomb. Wm. H. Rile, County surveyor, assisted these men in laying out the twon, running the streets parallel with the railroad. The quarter was divided into forty-eight blocks of 12 lots each, the blocks being 360 ft. Square. Two streets running parallel with the railroad, one on either side were made seventy feet wide, with all others sixty. The town was named in honor of I. N. Bushnell, at that time president of the Northern Cross railroad, the name by which the Burlington was then known. When the town was laid out, there was nothing on its proposed site, but a large wolf pole. A pole erected on the highest eminence in...

READ ONLINE

[6.02 MB]

Reviews

The book is great and fantastic. Yes, it really is engage in, still an interesting and amazing literature. You wont feel monotony at at any moment of your respective time (that's what catalogs are for regarding if you request me).

-- Daren Raynor II

This publication is worth getting. it absolutely was writtern very completely and useful. I am quickly could possibly get a pleasure of reading a written publication.

-- Ariane Rau