The Delaware Peach Crop. The correspondent of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, gives hope of a fair average crop--probably 3,000,000 baskets may go forward. Strawberries will be enormous; and Asparagus is being raised in immense quantities over other years Much difficulty is however felt in marketing, and prices will perhaps rule low. P. O. Rulings--with a Crooked Ruler. And now our poor publisher is in a quandary. He has to prepay postage to Holland, Belgium, Australia, and South America, in which distant places he has a fair list of subscribers. This has been 72 cents each per year. Now the ruler decides this is wrong, and 96 cents is the legal fare. He collects from his subscribers in advance, resting on the good faith of his respected Uncle at Washington, and of course will rather go to sleep and dream over being plundered by the Government, than enter into distant negotiations with numberless subscribers for the paltry sum of each, but a great deal to him on the whole. It may be that one of these days the postal wheel will turn round, informing us that two cents is all that is required for these distant postages, when we shall have already collected ninety-six cents from our unfortunate subscribers. Well we know that there is a conscience fund always open for us where we can return all we thus unwittingly rob others of; but unfortunately we are not in...
