CASCADE BOOKS, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book. In the face of what appears to be a widespread questioning of the practical usefulness of serious theological reflection on the nature and purposes of God, the authors of this intriguing book argue that a return to the sources of the Christian tradition represents nothing less than a rich trove of resources for Christian living. By revisiting the story of speech about God in scripture and in the living tradition of the church, the authors argue that we are thereby enabled to confront the contemporary temptations that too often unwittingly remake God in our own image. In this way the authors provocatively suggest that at least part of what Christian discipleship involves today is bound up with the task of unlearning some of the ways of speaking of God that have become so familiar to us. By learning to reread the texts of the Christian tradition, particularly in its most vital and creative moments, the authors suggest that we might become better equipped to faithfully read the signs of our own times. In this beautiful product of long conversations and deep friendship, Haymes and Gingerich Hiebert demonstrate why Christians cannot sustain a life of peacemaking and discipleship without God. Accessibly, and with solid scholarship and practical wisdom, they give their readers new (old) language to talk about the God who is known in history and mystery, in wonder and worship, and above all in Jesus Christ. --Alan Kreider, Professor Emeritus of Church History and Mission, Anabaptist Mennonite Biblical Seminary Combining strong scholarship and keen pastoral insights that engage the reader, this book is a profound theological reflection about what it means to believe in and speak about God in our world. --Eleanor Epp-Stobbe, Pastor, Breslau Mennonite Church God..
