Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from Administration of the First Federal Child-Labor Law The child-labor Division of the Children s Bureau was organized to administer the United States child-labor act, which became effective September 1, 1917. Approximately nine months later (June 3, 1918) the act was declared unconstitutional, so that the work of the division in this field terminated at that time. Subsequent to June 3, some general inspections and investigations were made by the division under the statutory power of the Children s Bureau to investigate the employment of children. At the request of the War Labor Policies Board and the Department of War, it also undertook to make the inspections necessary to determine whether contractors were observing the clause with reference to the employment of children which was ordered inserted in all Army and other war contracts. An investigation of the employment of children in shipyards was also made by the division at the request of the Industrial Division of the Emergency Fleet Corporation. A report of this work, which extended over less than two years, is here presented in the order in which it was undertaken.
