C. Book Prizes) Forty weeks on the B. C. Bestsellers list in 2013 and 2014! Price Paid: Aboriginal Rights in Canada is the second book by award-winning author Bev Sellars. Based on a popular presentation Sellars often told to treaty-makers, politicians, policymakers, and educators, Price Paid relates Canadian history from a First Nations point of view. The book begins with glimpses of foods, medicines, and cultural practices North America's indigenous peoples have contributed to the rest of the world. It documents the dark period of regulation by racist laws during the twentieth century, and then discusses the new emergence in the twenty-first century into a re-establishment of Indigenous land and resource rights. The result is a candidly told personal take on the history of Aboriginal rights in Canada. Bev Sellars was first elected chief of the Xatsull (Soda Creek) First Nation in Williams Lake, British Columbia, in 1987....
