

Being a Dog

By Alexandra Horowitz

Simon & Schuster Audio. No binding. Condition: New. Dimensions: 5.9in. x 5.1in. x 0.8in. Alexandra Horowitz, the author of the lively, highly informative New York Times bestselling blockbuster Inside of a Dog, explains how dogs perceive the world through their most spectacular organ—the nose and how we humans can put our under-used sense of smell to work in surprising ways. What the dog sees and knows comes mostly through his nose, and the information that every dog takes in about the world just based on smell is unthinkable rich. To a dog, there is no such thing as fresh air. Every gulp of air is full of information. In Being a Dog, Alexandra Horowitz, an eminent research scientist in the field of dog cognition, explores what the nose knows by taking an imaginative leap into what it is like to be a dog. Inspired by her own family dogs, Finnegan and Upton, Horowitz sets off on a quest to make sense of scents. In addition to speaking to experts across the country, Horowitz visits the California Narcotic Canine Association Training Institute and the Stapleton Groups Vapor wake explosives dog training team; she meets vets and researchers working with dogs to detect cancerous...

READ ONLINE
[5.51 MB]

Reviews

An extremely awesome pdf with lucid and perfect reasons. I was able to comprehend everything using this published e pdf. You can expect to like how the blogger compose this pdf.

-- Miss Peggie Sanford I

This written publication is wonderful. It can be written in straightforward phrases instead of confusing. I discovered this pdf from my dad and i suggested this publication to learn.

-- Jesse Tremblay