Walls: Essays, 1985-1990 (Paperback)

By Kenneth A. McClane

University of Notre Dame Press, United States, 2010. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book. Walls: Essays, 1985-1990, Kenneth McClane's first book of autobiographical essays (originally published in 1991), is closely related to his second collection, Color, published by the University of Notre Dame Press in 2009. Walls is a powerful and deeply moving meditation on relationships. It begins with an essay on the death of McClane's brother, Paul, which changed everything. Time, my work, everything found a new calculus. His brother's life and death are present in some way in all the essays that follow. A Death in the Family, as McClane tells us about giving a poetry reading in a maximum-security prison; his experience of being one of the first two African American students to attend America's oldest private school; teaching creative writing; his sister, Adrienne; a divestment protest at Cornell; and his encounters with James Baldwin. McClane has written a new preface to this paperback edition of Walls. Walls reminds us of the differences that set us apart, dividing our world into good kids and troublemakers, winners and losers, the beautiful and the damned. The anodyne for exile in these essays is McClane...

Reviews

This ebook could be well worth a study, and superior to other. It really is basic but unexpected situations inside the 50 % of your ebook. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.

-- Prof. Buford Ziemann

Here is the finest publication we have read right up until now. It is actually written in easy words instead of difficult to understand. Its been written in a remarkably easy way in fact it is only right after i finished reading this book in which basically changed me, modify the way i really believe.
