Deep & Deep Publications Pvt. Ltd./Regal Publications, 2008. Hardcover. Condition: New. Protection and preservation of the rights of the individual and his free access to Justice are indispensable constituents of the march of a civilized society. Its emphasis is more in a Democratic set - up, based on rule of Law where safeguarding human rights and assuring dignity of the individual is the Responsibility of the State. Our Constitution has accepted the individual as the focal point of all development which is reflected in various provisions of the Constitution and more particularly in Chapter-III containing the charter of Fundamental Rights of Citizens. Since Rights and Duties run parallel to each other and are co - existent, the fundamental duties of the citizens have also been added to the pages of the Constitution, making citizens conscious of their Legal rights and corresponding obligations, for a dignified existence. Our Constitution and legal system is greatly influenced by the Philosophy of Anglo - Saxon jurisprudence and the parliamentary Democracy which we have imbibed, is largely built on the edifice of West - minster model. So, the Constitution does not treat the individual as a coy or cog in the mighty` and all powerful machine of the State but the founding fathers of the Constitution have placed the individual at the center Stage of the Constitutional Scheme and have focused on the fullest development of his personality. However, all these provisions would be meaningless and ineffectual unless there is rule of law to invest them with life and force. In preceding of the present book an attempt has been made to Study the Introductory theme and some preliminary issues relating to human rights jurisprudence. The Conception and principles of human rights are the hallmark of modern civilised and democratic societies. What is obvious and...
