In the Absence of a Mothers Love: A Survivors Story

By Anna Lee Barrett

Createspace. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 334 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 5.8in. x 0.9in. After a traumatic, life-changing event, Anna Lee Barrett found herself overcome with heartbreak and desperation. An otherwise happy, smart, well-adjusted middle-aged woman, blessed with more than most, she had reached the point of no return, emotional bankruptcy. In search of understanding and healing, Anna began journaling thoughts and feelings beyond her control. As she wrote, she discovered an unexpected connection to her past. Her emotional behavior resembled interactions she had with her mother in childhood. Through research, Anna discovered Attachment, the bond between caregiver and child in the first three years, is the foundation of all life. It affects the physical and emotional development and well-being of every human being regardless of color, creed, disability, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or socioeconomic status. Attachment security is the root of many behavioral disorders and the most powerful predictor of life success. On the outside, Anna had all the makings of a fairytale childhood: a devoted dad and stay-at-home mom, siblings, a full-time caretaker, involved extended family, a stately home, superior education, elite summer camp, and a first-class European vacation. However,...
