Excerpt from La Campanilla, 1935 The College High School began years ago as the demonstration classes of th Montclair Normal School. The groups, composed of children living nearby, were from the kindergarten through the sixth grades. These classes were small so that the pupils could receive special attention. When the Montclair Normal School became Montclair State Teachers College the demonstration classes changed accordingly, still remaining small enough for the pupils to have personal contact with their teachers. Not only were the primary grades changed to Junior and Senior High School, but they moved in to a new College High building built especially for them.
