Any text-book will fail of its highest service unless the wise questioning of the teacher, his tactful adaptation of its material to the condition of his pupils, and his sympathetic fidelity to the methods and spirit of the book, give it life and make it a moving influence. The following simple exercises will form a useful and strengthening accompaniment to all language work: 1. In order to express thoughts the pupil must have that wherewith he may express them - a vocabulary of words in good usage.
