Forgotten Books, 2018. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from The Complete Revolution HE Republic is bursting from its Eighteenth Century clothes. A system designed for loosely federated states no longer serves. The Twentieth Century brings a new dawn and a new deal. The day for patching, tinkering and compromises has gone. The time for revolution has arrived. People are not satisfied with their government. Upon one thing both great parties agree, that only under leadership of radicals can they have chance for success. The law of progress is change, and without progress there can be no stability. When there has been a long time without change, revolution must come to set stability up again. The system of government in the United States has not changed in one hundred years, although in this period there have been more changes in the manner of living and in the organization of society, than there were in the previous thousand years. Government has become out of plumb with the times. Change needed amounts to a revolution; not a revolution of blood, but revolution of method, such as that of 1688 in England, which peacefully established the supremacy of Parliament over the King. Today it comes to establish the supremacy of the people in their government. The first American Revolution abolished monarchy and proclaimed the equal right of every citizen in his government. The time was not ripe, however, for the complete working out of the democratic idea. For government by king was substituted government by machinery. The machine set up was with checks and balances, reserved rights and parchment restrictions. At the base were thirteen states of semi-sovereign power. At the top were Congress...
