McGraw-Hill Education - Europe, United States, 2012. Hardback. Condition: New. Reprint. Language: English . Brand New Book. Lead your people to excellence using the time-honored values of one of America s most successful institutions As one of America s most honored institutions, West Point has produced some of the greatest leaders in the history of the nation--and the world. For almost a century, West Point s men and women have been both informed and inspired by the Cadet Prayer --a simple but profound set of moral precepts for those who aspire to realize in their lives and work as leaders the ideals and principles of West Point. Imagine if business had a similar compass for leadership . . . Using the Cadet Prayer and the Academy s developmental model as a foundation, U.S. Army veteran and West Point professor Don M. Snider and his colleagues lay the groundwork for achieving leadership success in any business. Snider s assertion is this: In leadership, moral character comes first. Without it, skills, competence, and even vision are useless. Here are just a few of the leadership axioms from the Cadet Prayer :Strengthen and increase our admiration for honest dealing and clean thinking Make us to choose the harder right instead of the easier wrong Endow us with courage that is born of loyalty to all that is noble and worthy Guard us against flippancy and irreverence in the sacred things of life Grant us new ties of friendship and new opportunities of service Honesty. Transparency. Loyalty. Service. These aren t soft traits. They re the nuts and bolts of quality leadership. They re the hallmark of authentic leadership for the sake of it. And they are the rock-solid foundation on which stand leadership success and all that comes with it. In leadership, Snider...
