Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from Refraction and How to Refract: Including Sections on Optics, Retinoscopy, the Fitting of Spectacles and Eye-Glasses, Etc This book has been written at the request of the many students who have attended the author's lectures on Refraction at the Philadelphia Polyclinic; and while it is intended for all beginners in the study of Ophthalmology, yet it is especially for those practitioners and students who may have a limited knowledge of mathematics and who can not readily appreciate the classic treatise of Donders. In the preparation of the manuscript and in arranging these pages the writer has planned to be systematic and practical, so that the student, starting with the consideration of rays of light, is gradually brought to a full understanding of optics; and following this, he is taught what is the standard eye, and then is given a description of ametropic eyes, with a differential diagnosis of each, until finally he is told how to place lenses in front of ametropic eyes to make them equal to the standard condition. By being dogmatic...
