With the exception of a serious loss over a limited area occasioned by an unusual number of Chinch Bugs, the year has been characterized by exemption from marked insect injury. This is evidently due in a great measure to the peculiar climatic conditions which prevailed in different parts of the state during last spring and summer, and in part to the growing appreciation of modern methods of farming among our citizens. I believe, as time goes on, and the farmers of the state become more conversant with the life history and habits of our leading pests, such as the Chinch Bug, they will learn to adopt remedies and methods of prevention of injury which are suggested and will be able to largely control the attacks upon their crops. Naturally, emergencies will arise from time to time, unforeseen because it is impossible to predict them, when appeal must be made by farmers to some authority on economic entomology, whose resources may be taxed to the utmost in coping with some unexpected and unprecedented insect attack. It is for these emergencies that this department of the Experiment Station, in addition to its regular routine work, must ever stand prepared, and I wish to assure you, sir, that it will always be our aim to be of practical aid to those interested in agricultural pursuits. During June, July, August and September about 600 letters were written, largely in reply to inquiries about insects, either identifying and...
