In response to a congressional request, GAO described Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) efforts in six states to delegate the operational responsibilities of the Prevention of Significant Deterioration Program (PSD) established by the Clean Air Act to state agencies. GAO found that the EPA review process before delegation provided EPA adequate information to make its delegation decisions. Further, GAO found no significant differences in levels of effort between EPA and the states in carrying out their PSD activities. GAO found that state agencies had placed about the same or more emphasis on preconstruction review processing steps than had the EPA regions. In addition, two states took significantly less time than EPA to complete their preconstruction reviews and issue their PSD permits. GAO found that the state agencies efforts to maintain emissions inventories varied by state, from no formalized inventory in two states to detailed computerized inventories of major and minor pollution sources in three states. In addition, GAO found that the frequency of state inspections varied considerably from the EPA annual inspection criterion. EPA performs two types of annual audits that encompass...
