Forgotten Books, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Bulletin, Vol. 8: October 1915 The supreme test of any institution is always the fruit it produces. That is the kind of men it sends forth to serve God s world and God s Kingdom. When God would make a real minister, He must first of all make a real man; for a minister who is not a man has no name in any human vocabulary which will really describe him. If the Seminary gets a student who is not a man, it may turn him out as a learned simpleton or a pious fool, but by no process of theological legerdemain can it convert him a real minister of God. We welcome the old students because we know they are men, and we welcome the new students because we believe they will prove men. As such, we expect of you hard and honest work. In the first place, the traditions of this Seminary call for honest application and genuine study. All institutions are in debt to their own past and in every living today they incorporate the record from which they cannot be dis severed.
