AuthorHouse. Hardcover. Condition: New. 280 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.8in. Miss Asunder had just won the DV Lottery in Cameroon, and has forged a marriage certificate with Mr. Fabrice at the American Embassy Yaound, Cameroon, to enter America. Miss Asunder had never really loved Mr. Fabrice, but with the passage of time, his reputation as a poet, playwright and dramatist begins to earn him more credibility in life and success in New York City, Harlem. Miss Asunder has fallen in love with this young poet, playwright and dramatist against her wish and will, but her only flaw is that she wants to override him by using the feminist laws. Yes, a woman is always right under the feminist laws, and can kill and redeem a man at will, she believes. . . she fails to understand that to be on your right does not mean to always be right or be on your right, but to be right sometimes means to be on the wrong. Mr. Fabrice later falls in love with Miss Saily, who being a Cameroonian, has learnt not to be more American than the Americans, because of the feminist law system. On his wedding day with Miss Saily, there is a theological disagreement between Mr. Fabrice and Miss Saily's mother, Mrs. Clara, who opposes him before the church for a heretic and must recant his theology before marrying her daughter. Miss Saily cannot withstand seeing her bride being tried on their wedding day for a heretic, and so she collapses, and sooner, Mr. Fabrice also collapses by his bride, and they are all taken to the Harlem central hospital, New York. What happens next Suspense, love, theological discourse, deception, theme of fate and faith, a blend of poetry, a play within a play
