CreateSpace Independent Publishing Platform. Paperback. Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. 238 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.6in. The Word Made Flesh represents the fourth, and final, installment of a four book series chronicling the life, and maturation, of Dan Kristich. In Around the Horn, built on the metaphor of baseball and set in Butte, Montana, in 1949 -- The Richest Hill on Earth -- Dan is a five-year-old boy alive with wonder and fascinated by the majesty of baseball. Buttes Clark Park seems to be an enchanted world where heroes throw, hit and run around the horn. In The Purple Bow, also set in Butte but this time in 1962, Dan is a seventeen-year-old high school senior awakened to the wonders, and possible life-changing effects, of manned space exploration. Brother Kelley, his senior English teacher at Buttes Boys Central High School, an all-male school operated by the Irish Christian Brothers, helps awaken his curiosity. What if manned space exploration fails to discover the next world identified in his Baltimore Catechism? What do we do then? In The Magic Show, set in 1973 in Spokane, Washington, Dan is a twenty-nine-year-old graduate student at the Jesuits Gonzaga University. Standing...
