OFFICE HOURS: ONE ACADEMIC LIFE

Quid Pro, LLC, United States, 2016. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Even a cursory glance at today's headlines reveals that higher education is in crisis. Tuition outpaces inflation, states slash budgets, graduation rates decline, and technology threatens to reshape everything. Universities continue to crank out new PhDs, but many will become poorly paid members of a secondary, adjunct labor force teaching most of today's college courses. Scholars lucky enough to be on the tenure track must publish more and more, while students at large universities sit in ever larger lectures, seldom interacting with professors. Yet every year, thousands of applicants from the world over apply to America's most prestigious colleges and universities, and students and their families continue to spend huge sums on college. What are colleges and universities really like--from the inside? What do we do wrong, and what are we doing right? What is it like to be a professor and administrator at one of America's prestigious educational institutions? This memoir asks these questions, in a very personal way. This is the story of a serious scholar finding his vocation, his students and his gratifications, amidst the near-impossibility of such discoveries in higher education today. The writing is beautiful and the accounts of times, places and institutions are alternatively moving, penetrating and provocative. - Wendy Brown, Class of 1936 First Professor of Political Science, University of California, Berkeley Written in lyrical and sparkling prose, Harry Hirsch's Office Hours is, on the one hand, an intimate and insightful memoir of a Jewish gay man's trajectory from a Chicago boyhood to Princeton, Harvard, and beyond. On the other hand, it's a penetrating critical analysis of college and university approaches to...
