Regulating Infant Formula

By George Kent

Hale Publishing, United States, 2011. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 228 x 152 mm. Language: N/A. Brand New Book. Most of us assume that our government or some international agency is monitoring the quality of infant formula. Government agencies sometimes raise alarms when a batch of formula is seriously contaminated, but they are not monitoring the product to make sure the product helps to make your children as healthy as possible. Manufacturers keep coming up with newer and more expensive versions of infant formula, but no one really knows how they will affect your children's health. And no one is monitoring this! No one compares the healthcare costs linked to different methods of feeding. No one is providing the information that you or any healthcare worker need to make an informed choice between breastfeeding and feeding with infant formula. More than half the infant formula used in the U.S. is provided by the government, at no cost to the families. The government monitors the economic impact on the manufacturers, but not the impact on the health of children. It has been estimated that more than 900 children in the U.S. die each year because they have been fed with infant...

Reviews

Unquestionably, this is actually the very best job by any article writer. I have read and that i am certain that i am going to planning to go through once again once more in the foreseeable future. I realized this publication from my i and dad advised this pdf to find out.

-- Rusty Hamill Sr.

The very best book i at any time read. It generally does not price an excessive amount of. I discovered this publication from my dad and i recommended this book to understand.
