He especially loved to speak of God as his Father u Qilt Father, as he would often say, and thus we may always feel him to be. He dwelt much upon sanctification, ; the willingness of Christ to receive all who come to him in sincerity of heart; the efficacy of prayer, and the necessity of divine grace. He was accustomed to preach very earnestly on the future judgment, and the punishment of the wicked; holding out at the same time the love of God, through Jesus Christ, to the returning sinner. In his manner of preaching he was very plain, Bo that all his hearers could understand him; frequently introducing anecdotes of pious persons, and illustrating spiritual things from nature. But the Bible, the dear Bible,...
