THE NORMAL HERALD, VOL. 17: JANUARY, 1911 (CLASSIC REPRINT)

Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Normal Herald, Vol. 17: January, 1911 In all of these societies she discharged her duties with ability and faithfulness. She was an earnest student of the Bible and for forty years an admired and beloved Sabbath School teacher. Her known love for the great books of the world and her fondness for research led the students often to appeal to her for aid when investigating a subject. During the twenty-eight years in which she was a member of The Ingleside it is not recalled that she ever once failed to be ready with any part of the program assigned her. Ten years ago when it was proposed that she make her home with us at the Normal, fear was expressed by her friends that she might not find school life congenial to her. But no one could have more fully enjoyed the life and stir and youth about her. The revolving years had brought to her loss and grief but she had learned a glad patience and cheerfulness in the school of Christ. Though she was seventy-eight, she died while she was still young and making felt the sweet presence of a spirit that was never to know the dimness of age. Funeral services were held on Saturday night at the home of her nephew, Attorney J. Wood Clark, and interment was made in Oakland Cemetery, Sabbath afternoon. The room in which she lay, the parlor of the old homestead, was filled with beautiful flowers amid which she lay in the silent majesty of death. Farewell! Dear friend and sweet counselor, farewell! School will open again but the returning sessions will bring to us...
