Excerpt from The Gentleman s Magazine, Vol. 255: January to June 1885 At present there exists on its banks a flourishing and growing colony; but forty years ago - with which time we have to do - the settlement, though not quite in its infancy, was at least comparatively small. It consisted of some dozen houses - all modest, one-storied structures of hewn pine-logs, with cone-shaped roofs and projecting eaves - clustered at irregular distances about a clap-boarded church, nearly large enough (like the churches of most Canadian villages) to contain them all. The clearing effected amidst that primeval forest had proved remarkably fertile. The soil was rich and warm, for the climate, owing to the northern sweep of the isothermal line, is there some degrees milder than on the banks of the St. Lawrence, so far to the south, and spring dawns, as a rule, a week or two earlier.
