Excerpt from Abraham Lincoln: An Essay, Read Before the Cliosophic Society, Lancaster, February 7, 1908 In colonial days slavery was not justified on moral grounds. The institution was regarded unmoral and in human. Men Of the North and the South spoke against the iniquitous practice. In 1700 Judge Samuel Sewall issued the first public denunciation of slavery in a pamphlet. In 1688 the Mennonites of Germantown drew up the first petition against it. George Mason Of Virginia said: Slav ery discourages arts and manufactures. Thomas Jeffer son, in the original draft of the Declaration Of Independence, made it one of the chief articles of indictment against George III., that he prostituted his negative for suppress ing every legitimate attempt to prohibit or to restrain this execrable traffic. In 1787 he wrote: Indeed, I tremble for my country when I reflect that God is just and that His justice cannot sleep forever. At the close of the eighteenth century, all the States north of Maryland had put slavery out Of existence. After the national government was organized numerous petitions were submitted to Congress seeking...
