Basically no phrases to clarify. It really is written in straightforward phrases rather than hard to understand. You will not sense monotony at any moment of your own time (that's what catalogues are for concerning if you ask me).

Excerpt from The University Course of Music Study, Vol. 4: A Standard d104-Work The benefactor arranged for lessons for his son and young Johann in Violin playing. Some years later the lad studied harmony and instrumentation with Sey fried, a noted teacher. He began to support himself as a violin player in a string quartet and a Violinist in a cafe orchestra. His next connection was with Lanner in a quartet, an organization which soon grew to be a small orchestra. Of this Lanner and Strauss acted as conductors. In 1826, however, Strauss got together an orchestra of fourteen men and gave a series of concerts in a favorite suburb of Vienna during the carnival season, taking the people by storm. His first waltzes won instant approval. With an enlarged orchestra he began playing in a popular amusement place in the city, the Sperl, on a six years engagement, during the course of which his reputation as an orchestral con ductor was established.
