Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, United States, 2014. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .This is my second book of poems and although my first book was written and all the poems were mine, I decided to include some of my favourite poems from the last 43 yrs of my life. I especially liked the darkness of Alan Seeger s I have a rendezvous with death. I can understand why JFK liked it so much. Growing up with the war poems of Wilfred Owen were experiences I wanted to have. The futility of life in front of machine guns and cannon seemed an amazing way to die. Dulce et Decorum est Pro Patria Mori is a line from the Roman Poet Horace s Odes and translates into English as, It is sweet and fitting to die for your country. I suppose up to your ass in mud and bullets zinging everywhere must have really showed that line up for what it was, but I still firmly believe what God said in John 15v13, Greater love has no one than this, that someone lay down his life for his friends. Maybe I m a fool, but God and Country is something I ve always believed in and the words I have spoken here today are no better exemplified than in Lord Tennyson s Poem, The Charge of the Light Brigade. . . Theirs is not to reason why, Theirs is but to do and die. I wrote a poem about the futility of war that I included in my first book, called Reflections. In the style of Wilfred Owen, saying War is wrong and wanted it to be set aside like his poems, so I included it in this book too. The majority of my...
