J Kprris a tyivsa. 8. that HE is excepted which did put all things under him, ver. 27; and when all things shall be subdued unto him, the Son (who is thus placed by the Father over all things, shall not only in the end deliver up the kingdom to God, even the Father, ver. 24, but) shall also himself be subject unto him that put all things under him, that God may be all in all: ver. 28. With respect to the words of Thomas, John xx. 28, the first point to be determined is, What is the proper construction of the passage Is it a confession, or an exclamation On this point I have stated in my Reply, p. 25, and stated correctly, that Beza, with some other eminent divines, considers the words as an exclamation. Not having an opportunity of consulting Beza myself, at the time of writing the Reply, I gave his testimony, relying on the correctness of Archbishop Newcome, who mentions in a note subjoined to the words in his translation-- Beza says that they are an exclamation Aware of the usual correctness of the Archbishop, I was not a little surprized to find Mr. Slocock, p. 113, charging me with the perversion and falsification of the testimony of Beza. Surely, (said I to myself) if I have been betrayed into an error, I have been betrayed by an Archbishop; and if an Archbishop is...
