I do not know anything I can say, it is of very little consequence who brings the thing. Q. You say in letter No. 7, it was said by those who understand the business, and particularly by a man of the name of Brodhead, who does some business in the lumber way. Did you mean Mr. Handy to infer that Biodhead was using corruption under the guise of lumber business? A. I did not mean that C. You say, a strong and influential Democrat from Susquehanna, I should say Lewistown, a friend of mine deeply interested in the credit system, c. Who was that person? A. I do not recollect. Q. You say, from the letter the gentleman wrote to Philadelphia, of which you transmitted me a copy. Who was the gentleman? A. I looked for the letters of Mr Handy, but I could not find them I must have destroyed them, or I could give you the explanation. Q. Can you not recollect who made any demand of magnitude? A. It might have been Mr Brodhead. My business was only for the Moyamensing Bank. It was general conversation I heard which I conveyed to Mr Handy Q. What did you mean by to-morrow I expect to hear from you respecting business in the lumber way, which is plenty cheap now and will sell 9 A. Mr Handy expected to build in the spring; he had three or Tour lots on whichg...
